1. Title of the Practice

Swa Sakti – Nari Sakti

2. Objectives of the Practice

The primary objective of the practice is to empower the female students who come from rural and marginal areas of Kultali, by providing rigorous academic, administrative, psychological, health related, financial and social support. Further, the college aims to promote equality by encouraging rural women students in higher education and by paying special attention to their needs in order to meet their individual as well as social growth. The aim is to establish a safe and inclusive campus environment free from discrimination and harassment. By focusing on these objectives Kultali Dr. B.R Ambedkar College aims to create an environment that empowers female students, reduces dropout rates, and ensures that women have equal opportunities to succeed and thrive in their academic and professional lives.

3. The Context

Kultali Dr. B. R. Ambedkar College is situated in the in the remote and ecologically sensitive Sundarbans area of South 24 Parganas District, a region facing significant ecological and environmental challenges due to its remote and sensitive ecosystem. The area is characterized by high population density, limited access to resources, and vulnerability. The College is also situated in a vulnerable socio – economic background where various social ills persist with rates of high early marriage for female students accompanied by increased drop out rates. There has been a tendency among the parents due to the social background and rural mindset to neglect and compromise on the higher education requirements of their girl child. Mental and physical health of girl students also got neglected which came as a concern to college administration. Realising the seriousness of the situation, the college designed – “Swa Sakti – Nari Sakti” an umbrella of initiatives under this practice to ensure empowerment of women in this area.

4. The Practice

The college designed – “Swa Sakti – Nari Sakti” an umbrella of initiatives under this practice to ensure empowerment of women in this area as their best practise:
